

November GMS of the Month

Cache Valley Learning Center

Principal: Anne Desjardins

School Coordinator: Elizabeth (Betz) C. Judd

Mentor: Tanna Grunig

Cache Valley Learning Center is a small private school in Logan, Utah. This is their first year participating in GMS and they are already started to make great changes towards a more active and healthy life. Here are just a few of the activities they have participated in this year.

The students at Cache Valley Learning Center went on a several hikes during the first few months of the school year. They learned that exercise is fun, especially when surrounded by nature, just look at the leaves starting to change!

During Green Ribbon month students tied green ribbons around their schools and pledged to be safe as they were out walking.

Cache Valley Learning Center also participated in Walk to School Day for the first time this year. Because many students are driven to school, teachers, parents and students decided to meet at the Willow Park Zoo entrance, and walk to remaining 1 mile to the school. The students loved walking to school with their parents and teachers. One student commented that his mom and some of his friends walked 3 miles to school from their homes on Cliffside.

As you can see this school is very motivated and excited about GMS. Congratulations, Cache Valley Learning Center!
